WHY VISIT ALASKA? AND DENALI NATIONAL PARK?

ALASKA, the 49th state (and largest state—double the size of Texas) has rightly earned its nickname as “The Last Frontier” - packed with rugged, mountains amidst 100,000 ice blue glaciers cling to their sides, big game wildlife, towering icebergs, fjords, lively cities, a unique culture, historic mining communities, and a thousand things in between. It is all about the great outdoors. It is raw and rugged, like a vast natural playground. It is a magnificent national treasure and there is no other state like it!

When it comes to breathtaking natural landscapes and impromptu encounters with a myriad of wildlife - we are not talking about Alaska’s “nightlife,” but animals running freely about the majestic lands. From grizzly bears, black bears, brown bears, whales, sea lions, puffins, wolves, reindeer, caribou, Dall sheep (curly horned sheep), sea otters, moose, eagles.....and on and on. It is also the land of the midnight sun where daylight can stretch to 19 hours.

DENALI NATIONAL PARK is the #1 reason to book an Alaska Cruise.

Mt. Denali is an impressive 20,310 feet above sea level. Denali is not just any mountain; it is the centerpiece of Alaska’s interior, a shining jewel rising above pristine Alaska wilderness.

Holland is the only cruise line that includes “The Tundra Wilderness Tour” into Denali National Park. You will likely spot some combination of Alaska’s Big 5: grizzly bears, caribou, moose, Dall sheep and wolves. The wildlife is abundant and easily viewable.

Denali Square, at the McKinley Chalet Resort, is the ultimate base camp. Spend your days sightseeing or other activities at Denali and the evenings winding down in creature comfort. Enjoy stunning views of the Nenana River virtually anywhere on the grounds, as well as upscale dining, quality entertainment and local shopping. And now you can join your friends on this wonderful adventure August 2022.
